SATURDAY JUNE 25.

A short time ago James H. Macdonald, of Michigan, was a section boss on a railway. He was induced to invest some money in the Gogebic iron mines, and he put in about all he had $350. He has now an annual income of $40,000, and is lieutenant governor of the state.

Mathias Splitlog has been swindled out of $140,000 by real estate men at Winona, Minn. Mr. Splitlog is a Wyandotte Indian and worth $1,000,000. He can neither read nor write, and is generally very absurd at a bargain, but the real estate agents were too much for his antitaurine mind.

It is told of a Dakota man that he has invented a machine to pump smoke down a gopher-hole, when it is expected it will kill the gopher. Those who know anything about gophers will admit that the only drawback to that machine is that while you are inserting smoke into the hole the gopher went into, he will come out of another and sit up and whistle at you and tell you that he has been smoked ever since he was ten years old.

Dr. John W. Hoyt, formerly secretary of the Wisconsin state agricultural society, has been appointed president of the Wyoming university. He is an able man, possesses a finished education, is energetic and industrious in whatever he undertakes. He served as chairman of the committee of judges on education at the Paris exposition several years ago, and occupied the same position at the centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. He was appointed governor of Wyoming by President Hayes, and served in that capacity for several years.

Gen. James E. Negley, ex-Congressman from Pittsburgh, says Pennsylvania will send a solid Blaine delegation to the republican national convention and he thinks the plumed knight will be renominated. "If Cleveland is renominated," said the General, "Blaine would defeat him. Cleveland could not poll more than 55 per cent of the democratic vote. In my opinion Gov. Hill, if so wished, can prevent Cleveland's renomination. Hill is by long odds the ablest politician in the democratic party. I think he would prove a much stronger candidate than Cleveland. As for Blaine, he is a great deal stronger now than he was in 1884."

It is a difficult thing to estimate numbers in a popular outdoor demonstration, and the New York World says that the celebration of Dr. McGlynn in that city Saturday night is a case in point. One newspaper places the marching crowd at 50,000, another at 30,000, another at 12,000 and still another at 10,000. The World took pains to carefully enumerate the marchers and it found that they numbered 7,692. Accuracy is an excellent feature of journalism, seeing that the chief aim of the newspaper is to inform. "We wanted the truth and sent out men who were prepared to count 100,000 parades. They made a careful enumeration and said, as said, 7,692 men in line."

The bricklayers' strike in Chicago having been declared off, it is proper to ascertain how much it cost to go into that bold-headed and foolish piece of business. It is figured up in this way:

Bricklayers.....	$2,450,000
Carpenters, staves-builders, etc.....	311,000
Brick manufacturers.....	782,000
Lathers, plasterers and painters.....	143,000
Glaziers.....	45,000
Stonecutters.....	12,000
Ironworkers, millmen, etc.....	112,000
Hud-carriers, lumber, etc.....	115,000
Men, bakers, etc.....	48,500
Total.....	$2,485,000

Had it not been for professional labor agitators who make a living and get their drinking at the expense of the laboring man, the strike would not have taken place. It was a strike simply to force a change of pay day from Monday to Saturday. It was a failure—a costly failure to the laboringmen.

Mr. Edward Maybridge, whose remarkable instantaneous photographs of "The Horse in Motion," published in 1882, astonished the world, has been working in the same line for the past four years under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania. About $30,000 have been expended, and 100,000 plates have been exposed. The result is a series of views presenting over 24,000 positions assumed by men, women and children, draped in nude, and by birds and animals in motion. The Century some time ago secured the right to first publication of a selection from these pictures, and in the July number an article will appear on this subject, by Talcott Williams, of the Philadelphia Press, illustrated with a number of the views, including those of men jumping and somersaulting, batteing and throwing baseball, birds flying, horses jumping, while "bucking" and kicking, etc.

LOCAL OPTION IN MICHIGAN. The legislature of Michigan has enacted a local option law, and in this respect puts the legislature of Wisconsin to shame. The law provides that on the petition of one-fifth of the voters of any county a special election shall be called on the question of license or no license within ten days of the presentation of the petition. If a majority vote for prohibition in the county, it is thereby enacted. The liquor tax and regulation law are repealed at the same time, and no liquors can be sold within the county for any but "medicinal or manufacturing purposes." The election on this question can be repeated but once every three years. If license is adopted it must be retained for that term. If prohibition is adopted there can be no public sale of liquor within the county during the three years, until licenses are restored by a popular vote, which may never be.

It has been said that saloons can be abolished in two-thirds of the counties in Michigan under that law. In the counties that fail to adopt prohibition, the tax will be $500.

The legislature of Wisconsin voted against the public sentiment of the state last winter when it voted down the Grinde bill. Democrats, of course, would not vote for local option under any circumstances, and there were not a sufficient number of republicans who had backbone enough to carry the bill through. With a local option law in this state, a majority of the counties would adopt prohibition. Rock, Walworth, Kenosha, Green, Racine, possibly Grant, and a number of counties in the central and northern part of the state, would carry local option by good majorities.

PRESIDENT BASCOM'S KICK.

Ex-President Bascom, of the state university, is a breeder of trouble, as his experience in this state will prove. The State Journal says it hoped that with the closing of the commencement exercises of the university when Dr. Bascom addressed to be present, that all horimonous feelings and cause for such feeling between the ex-president and the board of trustees would also come to an end; and that peace would exist between all persons connected with the state university. But, it says, this hope was blasted by the publication in the Probabilist of this week, by ex-President Bascom, of an article nearly five columns in length, charging Gov. Rock and the board of regents of being more politicians, and crudely traps because the board, in most gentle language, entreated him about a year ago to abstain from political contest while officially at the head of the university. There is a surprising amount of inconsistency in such a communication; a surprising desire to find an old bone to quarrel about again, and that, too, when he had so recently been anxious to end his connection with the university in peace; and finally a surprising disregard of facts and truths in many statements made."

All this is unfortunate, it is the spirit of Dr. Bascom—undignified, ungenerous, bad tempered, and abusive. It does seem that the ex-president was born unto trouble. He can't keep out of a quarrel. He can't suppress his temper, nor bury his hate. He wants to kick and fight and stir up strife. And why? Not even his friends can tell.

The people of Wisconsin can congratulate themselves that the university has now a president in Professor Chamberlain who will try to build up and not tear down; who will honor the university and not disgrace it; who will preside over the university with manly dignity and scholarly ability; and who will let politics take care of itself.

REPAIRING HIS FENCES.

There is an item going the rounds of the press to the effect that Private Secretary Lamont ran over to New York the other day and had an interview with Collector Magone, at which it was understood the immediate decapitation of all the prominent republican clerks remaining in the custom house was determined, upon.

To ascertain as definitely as possible the condition of his fences in the west Mr. Cleveland has employed the services of Mr. Bradley B. Smalley, secretary of the democratic national committee. He is now in the west and is engaged in making a thorough inspection of the presidential chances of Mr. Cleveland.

To be sure, Mr. Smalley was employed to make favorable reports, and he does so. He finds a popular uprising among democrats for the president, and says that even in Missouri, where the democrats have received only "meagre scraps of official patronage," the democracy is for him.

Mr. Smalley fell into the hands of newspaper men at Kansas City, and he said to a reporter: "I have yet to meet the first men of any prominence who does not think that Cleveland will be the nominee of the democratic national convention in 1888. You ask me what I took up by the way as to the republican nominee next fall and I must say that judging from all the information I can gain, Mr. Blaine is very far ahead of any and all other candidates."

Mr. Cleveland shows a good deal of ability in repairing his fences. Even while he was trout fishing among the Adirondacks, the administration made 213 democratic appointments, so that for every fish he caught he placed two active democrats in office. This was a very pleasant way for the president of the United States to be employed during a vacation—apparently to catch fish, but practically to set the political broom quietly to work.

The other day a prominent Brooklyn official, a democrat, of course, said that in a few months there would be no republicans remaining in office, and his statement was based upon the best of authority. In using the material with which to repair his fences, Mr. Cleveland has thrown out every piece of republican timber that was possible to get out. He has done good work for himself. He is building for 1888, and no democratic president since the time of Andrew Jackson, used his position to improve his own political chances, more than Mr. Cleveland has done.

ADVICE TO BROTHERS.

Mr. Winthrop's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, relieves all pain, and cures all inflammation. It is sold only in bottles.

A BIG DROP IN STOCKS.

WALL STREET OPERATORS SEIZED WITH A PANIC.

Numbers Death of Gould the Causes—The National Treasury May Aid It.

New York, June 25.—There was great excitement on the stock exchange Friday morning, amounting almost to panic. It is estimated that the break was caused by a report that Jay Gould was dead. Warren Upton fell from 70 to 63, but is now recovering. Mr. Gould is now at his office, but refuses to see reporters.

LATER.—The stock exchange early became extremely active and excited, with heavy declines. There was very heavy selling apparently, and a report was started there had been a falling out between Jay Gould and Russell Sage and Cyrus W. Field. Manhatten & Co., offered Manhattan down 19 per cent without making a sale.

The reason was given with broken and the decline brought out selling orders in all classes of stocks. Union, which held firm for a week, began to break at 11 o'clock, and in fifteen minutes dropped 3 per cent. The fall in the other stocks was correspondingly great. The greatest excitement was in the bond crowd, where many inquiries were made for bonds on call, but the parties who have been prominent in leading money refused to lend any amounts not near bow small.

The reporter of the Associated Press says Mr. Gould is in his office, and Mr. Gould furnished him with the following: "To John J. Kinnane.—The bulletins you are putting out that my Manhattan stock is in loan is a malignant falsehood. Not a share of my Manhattan is in loans or has my name on the back, nor do I owe a dollar in the world. You should promptly contradict Yours truly,

JAY GOULD.

Mr. Gould said further that the story that he and Mr. Cyrus W. Field had quarreled was untrue; that he and Mr. Field were as good friends as ever. The rumor that Mr. Field is in trouble is all bases. The excitement reached its greatest height shortly after 11 o'clock, when the market was closed.

No attention was paid by brokers to fractions in sales made by them, and fluctuations were so wild that sales were sometimes from 5 to 10 per cent apart. The stocks bought near the opening were thrown over when the break occurred, and this selling completely demoralized speculators, and the break was a scene of mere excitement than has been witnessed since the May panic of 1855. No failures were announced as the result of the break.

Regarding the statement that there had been a falling out between Jay Gould, Russell Sage, and Cyrus W. Field George Gould

"It is all a mistake. There has been nothing between my father and Mr. Sage and Mr. Field of a nature other than the most friendly. It is all some trumped-up scheme of some Wall street operators to influence the market. That their relations are the most friendly I am positive. The sharp break in the market this morning was undoubtedly caused by an amount of selling of stocks, and the bearishness of the stringency in money. I think the market is a buy now on all breaks. At present I think the long side is the safe side. But so far as any failing out between Mr. Sage, Mr. Field, and my father having caused the break is concerned, I am satisfied that the market is still at liberty under bond, and his bondshow no signs of an intention to surrender him. Comptroller Trenholm was at the Fidelity during the greater part of Friday, and was closeted with Briggs Swift for about two hours, and later had a long conference with Harper and Baldwin. What transpired can not be ascertained, but it is understood the object was to learn as much as possible about the man in which the business of the ruined bank was carried on.

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., June 25.—The expiring hours of both branches have been largely given up to packing and presentations. A large amount of business has been transacted. Among the most important was the Rogers bill, a copy of the interstate commerce act, despite strenuous efforts, especially on the part of the former.

SATURDAY DAY 25.

THE HAWAIIAN GOVERNMENT.
New Yorkers Discussing the Prospects of War There.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The war-cloud which is supposed to be hanging over the dominions of his majesty David Kalakaua, King of the Sandwich Islands, is creating a great deal of talk in New York, where the King is well known. It is asserted that Claus Spreeckels, the American sugar monopolist, is trying to precipitate a revolution in Hawaii, or at least to create an outside impression that Kalakaua's throne is unsafe. Mr. Crossman of the firm of Crossman & Bros., the New York commercial establishment connected with the Hawaiian trade, said to a reporter yesterday: "This attempt to make people believe that Hawaii is on the verge of a revolution is the work of Claus Spreeckels. I heard Mr. Spreeckels say on board of a vessel bound for Honolulu last spring that he carried the King and the Legislature in his pocket and could do what he pleased with them. King Kalakaua has set down his foot like a man and refused to be dictated to by any foreign monopolist." Spreeckels fell out with the King and sent him word of all the discussions conferred in former years, with a letter saying that as an American citizen he looked upon such things with disdain. The King smiled when he got the letter and made reply, "I know the King very well and have had many confidential chats with him. He is big-hearted, peaceful, and anxious to see his people prosper. I am sorry to say that he has not been surrounded by the best influences. Many of those who bow and scraping before me and have his private ear are not his true friends. But King Kalakaua is a man of a realization and will not allow his government to be used for the grinding of any man's ax."

The talk of war was all nonsense. The natives are so peaceable that you could not possibly get them to fight under any circumstances. Kalakaua's army amounts to about fifty men. He built a man-of-war, the steamer Kaimiloa, but he has no more use for it than for a cat-hut for two tails. What do I think of the shipment of arms to Hawaii? Well, I have no doubt that arms and supplies have been sent, but not for the Government. The Portuguese have organized a militia company, and I suspect the arms are for them. They are all loyal to the King."

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

The Chicago Derby is to be run Saturday, June 25. Today is Derby day and a large crowd is in attendance at the Washington Park races. The book odds on the leading entries for this event are as follows: Goldin, 15 to 2; Miss Ford, 10 to 1; Jim Cotter, 6 to 1; Curvy, 7 to 10; Wally, 10 to 1; Jim Lillo, 4 to 1; Hindoo, 15 to 1; Fenelon, 12 to 1; Montrose, 15 to 1; Clarion, 1 to 1; White Rose, 10 to 1; Brutus, 75 to 1. Horsemen were startled last night at the announcement that Garfield, Hamilton, and Shillito, three horses, would crack Eastern jockeys, would be in time to race in the great races. Just what number these riders have been engaged is not positively known. The entries and weights for the Lakeside stake and purses follow: First race—Purse $500, for 1000 yards, one mile, Jacobin, 103; Duke of Wellington, 96; Alice, 102; Australian, 98; Title S., 117; Ira E. Dickey, 103; Second race—Purse $400, six furlongs, Derby, 120; Clay Sexton, 101; Eliza Carter, 13; Allegheny, 102; Katie, 104; Cleone, 115; Cardinal McCloskey, 117; Kirklin, 118; Tom Uptegrove, 105; Molesky, 115; Florence, 117; Blush, 103; Marguerite, 107; Lotis, 107; Evelyn, 105; Letitia, 106; Victoria, 105; Edmon, 115; Fourth race, the Lakeside stakes, for three year old, with $1,000 added, five furlongs—Jehu L, 102; Outerline, 102; Alice, 102; Zuleika, 102; Frederick, 102; Dufft, 102; Irene, 102; Ocean Wave, 102; Los Angeles, 114; Hunter, 116; The Crow, 107; Winona, 105; Fifth race, purse $300, one and one-quarter miles, over five hurdles—Doctor, 103; Ascol, 107; Warrington, 107; Nelly Watkins, 107; Swallow, 104; Judge Jackson, 107; Wellington, 107; Aurelian, 102.

THE TELEPHONE'S IRV.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Professor Eliza Gray is said to have a new discovery which promises as extraordinary results as are obtained from the telephone. She has thus far obtained over 1000 applications for her invention, which is protected by about thirty different patents. Meanwhile the inventor is engaged in perfecting it. The general plan can perhaps best be described by the term "auto-telegraphy." It is claimed that it will be possible by this invention to write upon a sheet of paper and to have an autographic facsimile of the writing reproduced by telegraph 300 miles away and probably a much greater distance. The successful experiments thus far have been limited to 100 feet. It is expected that similar results will be obtained over a much longer circuit. It may be some time before the invention is perfected. But the inventor has great confidence that a great and practical rival to the telephone will ultimately be introduced.

RYAN AND MCGLYNN.

The latter replied to the former's charge against him.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 25.—Bishop Ryan has been seen with reference to the statement dictated by Rev. Father McGlynn. He said that Father McGlynn had by his utterances placed himself outside the pale of the church; that he stood where all heretics stand. If he thought he could reform the Church of God, there was plenty of opportunity, but he would find that he could not do it. He had placed himself where there was nothing more to be said to him and he must go his own way.

When McGlynn was shown the foregoing criticism of the Buffalo Bishop he responded by saying that my utterances placed myself outside the pale of the church, and I can do so except by denying its defined doctrines, resisting contumaciously the authority of the church when exercised within its legitimate sphere and within the limitations marked out by right reason, and the teachings of the church itself. I have not started out to reform the church of God, nor even at my presumptions, as I said in my interview of yesterday, as to hope to do much toward reforming the ecclesiastical machine which so sadly needs it. I have no desire to deny it, but I should not mind, as far as I care to do, that I was invited to a conference before starting for Rome, and my failure to do so would have been an additional offense to be punished in Rome. To obey our Savior we must obey every word and precept of the Pope, especially in matters of which he is grossly ignorant."
